Imagine being able to do 20,000 squats or sit-ups all in one 30 minute session – this is exactly what 3D Powersculpt can do for you. Using the latest technology, this treatment can accelerate muscle growth and reduce fat on your chosen muscle group.

3D Powersculpt stimulates muscle tissue to an intensity that couldn't be possible through a regular workout. It is the perfect treatment for people at their ideal body weight who want to define their muscles and contour their body.

I see this playing a conventional part in the fitness industry and as trainers, I think we've got to move with technology.
